

University Magna Graecia of Catanzaro
 Corso di Laurea in Organizzazione delle Amministrazioni Pubbliche e Private
 Course in Organization of Public and Private Administrations
Economic Policy
 Academic year 2024-2025, 1nd semester – ECTS: 8

Prof. Sabrina Ruberto

Course title Year ECTS Semester Hours	Economic Policy 2 ECTS: 8 1nd semester Total teaching hours: 48
Teacher information	Prof. Sabrina Ruberto. E-mail: sabrina.ruberto@unicz.it website: https://diges.unicz.it/web/docenti/ruberto-sabrina/ Room 1 – Department of Law, Economics and Sociology (DiGES)
Contents and goals	The goals of the course: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • illustrate, through basic models, the functioning of the economy as a whole; • examine the causes of economic fluctuations and the role of anti-cyclical policies; • provide essential knowledge on the factors of long-term economic growth. Learning outcomes: acquisition of the basic notions and analytical tools to examine the functioning of the economy; knowledge of the main models for examining the role of economic policies; knowledge of the main macroeconomic theories.
Detailed description	Main topics: Macroeconomic indicators: GDP, Fluctuations, Inflation, Unemployment. The Keynesian model: the Expenditure-Output model (Keynesian cross) and the multiplier effect IS-LM Mundell-Fleming model in open economies Labour market: neoclassical and Keynesian approaches The Phillips' curve Aggregate supply and demand: AD-AS model
Teaching methods	The course consists of theoretical lectures, where models are presented and solved, and applied lectures, based on the analysis of real-world cases
Textbooks	N. Gregory Mankiw, M. Taylor, Macroeconomics , European Edition / VII ed, Palgrave Macmillan, 2024
Other activities	Seminars
Teaching language	Italian
Attendance	Suggested, but not required
Evaluation	The verification of knowledge will take place through a final oral examination. The final grade is expressed in thirtieths (from a minimum of 18 to a maximum of 30).